Who We Are

For 40 years, Thorne has formulated and manufactured safe, clean, and effective health supplements with the purest, most absorbable nutrients that health-care practitioners and their patients trust.

Superior Through Science

Thorne was built to support the most demanding of performance needs. With our professional pedigree, everything we do is in service of the scientific rigor that provides unmatched quality and efficacy.

The Thorne Difference

Thorne doesn't just meet the standard – Thorne sets the standard. From our processes and quality controls to our steadfast integrity with U.S. and international regulations, we invest in advanced in-house laboratories and third-party testing.

Every supplement we manufacture undergoes four rounds of testing to ensure every supplement meets our high standards.

Round 1

Raw materials and components

Round 2

In-process testing

Round 3

Finished product testing

Round 4

Stability testing

Third-Party Certification

Based in the U.S., our manufacturing campus and laboratories in Summerville, South Carolina, have been certified by third-party regulatory agencies through audits that ensure compliance with current Good Manufacturing Practices (cGMP). Thorne is certified by NSF and by Australia's Therapeutic Goods Administration (TGA), widely recognized as having the most stringent cGMP regulations in the world.
